Notes from Senate President Thomas Schildgen

- Each faculty member and academic professional at ASU should have received an e-mail recently asking you to provide nominees for your campus president-elect position and all grievance committees. I encourage you to consider running for these positions if nominated. In the shared governance system at ASU, strong faculty and AP leadership is critical to our ongoing success.

University Senate

Senators have multiple tasks to perform but two of the most common are to provide the Senate with issues for possible review, and to inform his/her peers of important information provided at Senate meetings.
