Senate President Helene Ossipov

The fall semester Academic Assembly reception was a great success, and a nice way to kick-off the semester. If you happened to miss this semi-annual event, click here to see the video replay.

The campus Presidents worked diligently over the summer, and recently completed several important projects that will help advance the university. I am happy to report that each of the Senate's sixteen committees are staffed, and actively working on projects that support faculty members and academic professionals here at ASU. One of the more recent committees is a task force charged with revising ACD 402, the policy covering faculty/student relationships. This task force will be completing its work very soon, so keep an eye on the Senate news, and upcoming Senate agendas for more details on this important topic.
