MESSAGE FROM:

Senate President Arnold Maltz

More Info

The ASU University Senate is ramping up for the Fall Semester. We conducted two Senate meetings, including one from ASU West. Senate Standing Committees are staffed and have begun meeting. The Personnel Committee is considering salaries, and convened a sub-committee about Non-Tenure Eligible (NTE) faculty concerns. The Student Faculty Policy Committee's agenda includes academic integrity, intellectual property, and social media issues. Curriculum and Academic Programs and Research and Creative Activities committees are connecting with administration on program changes and research resource issues. Finally, the new Online Education Task Force has faculty members from multiple campuses and disciplines and will soon finalize its scope of work. As Senate President I have spoken to multiple academic units this year. Introducing the unit's senators always results in a show of appreciation for their service. I look forward to our continuing to make a difference here at ASU.

Do you have a challenging student issue?

In order to help struggling students as quickly and efficiently as possible, each faculty member should know the Dean of Students on their campus. Deans of Students can help in most any student crisis or situation. To find out who the Dean of Students is on your campus:
