MESSAGE FROM:

Senate President Donna Cataldo

As the Fall semester begins to wind down, I want to thank each faculty member and academic professional that serves on the University Senate and participates in the shared governance process here at ASU. As a collective body, the Senate membership contributes an estimated 9,000+ hours of service-work annually for ASU. The Senate office will begin our annual service recognition program that highlights the commitment of our elected members.

Additionally, members of the UAC will be representing faculty and academic professionals at the November ABOR meeting in Tucson. In February, the University Senate will host the annual breakfast with Arizona Board of Regents. The theme for the breakfast this year is about educational attainment and the role of faculty in helping students succeed. Again, please share any concerns and thank you for your continued support of shared governance.

In the Senate:

Provost Mark Searle Addresses the Senate

At Senate meeting #3 Mark Searle addressed the Senate. Provost Searle complements the Senate on its work and explains his vision of the role ASU faculty members can play in our greater society. Click here to listen.
