Senate President Brenda Hosley

Greetings from the University Senate. ASU recently hosted the Arizona Board of Regents (ABOR) meetings here on the Tempe campus. During the ABOR meetings, the University Senate hosted a breakfast with faculty members, regents and selected students to discuss the concept of academic excellence and quality at ASU. With the help of the ASU Enterprise Marketing Hub, the University Senate produced an outstanding video that was presented at the beginning of the breakfast. The individuals in the video did an outstanding job of framing the topic, and as a consequence there was vigorous discussion between each regent and the students, faculty, alumni, administrators, and senate staff who were present. When concluding the breakfast, I challenged each table to share their most impactful discussion points. The variety and impact of these key points were profoundly motivating and resulted in each of the stakeholders leaving the breakfast with numerous talking points that can be shared with legislators and community members.

Are You a Leader?

- Are you interested in being involved in the university level decision-making process?
- Do you enjoy thinking strategically and working with other faculty members to develop innovative solutions to ASU challenges?
- Do you have a mind for service...helping your peers, and helping the university?

If you answered yes to any of these questions then you need to consider self-nominating for a University Senate, campus president position.

If elected, campus presidents serve for three years on the University Academic Council (president-elect, president, past-president). If you would like to learn more, nominate an individual, or self-nominate, please contact the University Senate Secretary Chris Kyselka.
