 - Reviewed current structure; brainstormed possibilities
 - Drafted a survey to be administered to faculty soliciting their input
 - Provided input on a student survey
 - Participated in visioning process with Scott Bennett, emeritus university librarian from Yale and expert in architectural planning
2. The committee was asked to review the possibility and/or the interest in developing and Open Access policy
 - a. After some discussion the committee determined Open Access is something that should be explored in depth, but through an ad hoc Senate committee consisting of individuals who are representative of the many aspects of the university that would be impacted by such policy including UTO, Library, tenure and promotion, etc.

Section III

Request for Consultations and/or topics that were not started or remain unfinished and need to be carried over to the next academic year.

1. See section II of this report for the committee's recommendation for continuance of the Open Access Policy Request for Consultation, but following a different format.

Section IV

Recommendations to the Senate or Final Comments

The Hayden Library will be remodeled beginning next year. Creating a vision for the new ASU Library system must involve physical space and function as well as online space and function. The vision should be as timeless as is possible. This work and transition needs to be accomplished with the least amount of disruption to library services, for students and faculty.
